FINALISING A DEAL

Further to last week's video message from the Deputy General Secretary (Postal), the CWU's negotiating team have been in more talks with the business all this week.

Although the negotiations remain difficult and protracted, we believe the fundamentals of a deal are in place but we have not yet been able to agree the period of security and stability we are seeking which is crucial to achieving our overall objectives.

While we continue to work positively to get us over the line, it is important that people remember this dispute is not yet resolved and should we fail to progress and achieve our objectives on all aspects of our Pillars of Security campaign, we may still need to take Industrial Action to secure the right agreement for you, the business and this great public service.

We are clearly at a critical and important point in this dispute, there is no room for complacency and we remain determined to secure the best possible deal for our members.
